*Behold, feel,
fall into a reverie, fall in love*

Have you heard that Liepāja is a city of sea and winds?
However, not everything is said by that.

Liepāja is an amber city. Yes, it is true, and for all that Liepāja is also a health resort. And a harbour.

And a Capital of music in Latvia. Yes, that is true.
Still, you do not stop here, as Liepāja is something more!

Liepāja is a city under the linden! Even the air is something special in here!
Go on, that's not all!...

Come in! It is only then you will get a grasp of Liepāja.

See it yourself. Feel it yourself. Fall into a reverie. And fall in love.

Come in! And never let it go. Never let go Liepāja.

Urban environment

Architectural jewels – wood and stone. And an architect Paul Max Bertschy

Liepāja had always wanted to look special and proud – that we can see in its houses. There are plenty of historical wooden houses from the end of 19th century. Romanticism of the resort era alternates with lofty and unique Art Nouveau buildings – both exhibiting the prosperity of Liepāja. Local citizens would definitely tell that this is Art Nouveau metropolis – Liepāja has more than 70 Art Nouveau buildings, more than famous Riga does. Well, comparing to the number of inhabitants, of course.

Liepāja's Art Nouveau is a bit of modest and laconic, it fits very harmoniously into the urban ensemble, creating very special Liepāja.

It is important to outline the office years of city's chief architect Paul Max Bertschy. At the end of 19th century, he was not only actively shaping the architectural facade of Liepāja through his 30 years in the office, but was also a keen project designer himself. Bertschy buildings are bright examples of eclecticism, inspired by gothicism, renaissance and classicism.

Red brick dominates the finishing in exterior facades. Many of Bertschy buildings today hold attached special metal plates with architect's personal signature!

Most magnificent wooden buildings are located near the Seaside Park, former summer resort area. Buildings are decorated with fine wooden carvings, visible on balconies, terraces, banisters and facades.

Peter's Market

An outstanding example of Art Nouveau style, opened in 1910. One of the pearls among market's pavilions in Europe. The task of the architect Ludwig William Melville was not an easy one – market pavilion had to be inserted among three churches: St. Joseph's cathedral in the west, St. Anna's church in the east and a Synagogue that once was south of the Peter's market. The pavilion was made in a very modern to that time manner – the roof structure with large windows.

Peter's Market is the largest market in Liepāja, and the second largest in Latvia.

Ev. Lutheran Holy Trinity cathedral and the largest organ in the world

Late baroque example building, constructed at the end of 18th century, with some classicism features, splendidly decorated with rococo interior. The scope of construction will surprise you – church has a largest altar in Latvia, but stained-glass artworks were created after Albrecht Durer paintings. The unique treasure of the cathedral is its pipe organ. It was for several decades the largest in the world and is still one of the world's oldest and biggest mechanical instruments, constructed by one of the greatest organ masters of Europe Heinrich Andreas Contius.

It has more than 7000 pipes. The organ is used during the services and masses, but every September International Organ music festival takes place. An organ presentation or a small concert is possible when booking in advance. The cathedral's 55-meter-high tower is a favourite place to observe the city's panorama!

St. Anne's Lutheran church

The oldest church in Liepāja, mentioned with the same name already in 1508, though at a different location (The Old Cemetery). At its current location, the church has been reconstructed several times until construction of the new St. Anne's Church building began in 1892.

The building was designed in a neogothic style.

The greatest treasure of the church is the wooden altar, handcrafted by the woodcarver Nicolas Sefrens in 1697, which ranks among the greatest artwork from Eastern Europe at that time.

Liepāja Luther's church

Largest church construction in Latvia in the 30-ies of the 20th century. Constructed from the Finnish joint stone blocks in the form of a cross. The monumental facade stands in contrast with the bright and airy interior; it has outstanding acoustics that fits well for both, services and classical music concerts. The only church in Latvia with two organs.

St. Joseph's catholic cathedral

Initially confirmed at the end of 18th century, this church was ambitiously reconstructed in 100 years. Today's facade was completed in 1900. It is built from so called Danzig's bricks, each separately wrapped and brought from Germany. One can see a ship model up in the ceiling – this was a gift to the church from the sailors who sought and found God's grace at the time of a severe storm, miraculously surviving it.

St. Joseph's cathedral is also a bishop's seat.

Square of Roses

Square of Roses is a heart of Liepāja. For more than 100 years city planted rose bed in its middle. Constant value always was in here during all epochs.

Moreover, this is also the main meeting place in the city. Even towns meet at the Square of Roses – here you will find Liepāja twin towns' plates.

New Liepāja – Jaunliepāja

Jaunliepāja emerged as a new living neighbourhood for mostly industrial workers in the middle of 19th century due to substantial growth of industries in the town and opening of the new railroad. In the centre of it lays Anna's market square, place of many popular fairs in the 30-ies of the last century.

Courtyard "Romas dārzš"

The building was created in the 19th century as a shopping arcade with a spacious and romantic courtyard – typical in all European capitals of the time. It was later converted into a hotel. There are currently some shops, offices, a bakery and a hotel in the courtyard. There is also an art gallery with design store, museum of puppet art and design, a restaurant and a conference room in the underground tunnels of the building.

Julianna's Courtyard

Thanks to several new entrepreneurs, these historical manufacturing buildings, where the Ketten printing house, sandal factory and a sewing workshop were once located, have now become an attractive example of industrial architecture

Old embankment Promenade

The promenade of a truly port town, with a view to ships. Great for placid walks during the day and well centred on buzzy nightlife at the evening hours. The time here is kept in the Amber Clock – it was made from 50 litres of amber pieces, each of them donated by locals.

Vecā ostmala

Jānis Čakste Square

The highest place (11 meters above sea level) in the city. The square is named after the first president of the Republic of Latvia, Jānis Čakste. Gradually it was transformed from the military gatherings and trainings venue into the park, where in 1925, celebrating Liepāja's 300 years anniversary, Jānis Čakste himself, together with city officials planted a linden tree in each corner. After all, Liepāja is also a city under the linden! Illuminated fountain dominates the square in its middle.

Facts about Liepāja's history

In the 13th century Līva village started to grow between the lake and the sea by the river Līva.

Liepāja gained its city rights on 18 March 1625. A port developed in Liepāja and the city experienced economic growth.

The railway line Liepāja-Romny (in modern-day Ukraine) was opened in 1876, thereby facilitating the industrial growth of the city. Liepāja was becoming an industrially developed centre.

With the shooting in the port of Liepāja on 2 August 1914 World War I began in Latvia.

After the founding of the Latvian state, Liepāja was de facto the capital of Latvia from January 6 to July 7, 1919 for six months.

During the 1941 battles for Liepāja, a great deal of the structures in the city centre were destroyed.

After the war, the city was restructured according to the plans of the Soviet Union. Karosta became a closed military territory.

On 31 August 1994, the former Soviet navy base stopped functioning in Liepāja and the city was left by the last remaining soldiers of the Soviet Army.

Over the next twenty years, the city was gradually and intentionally cleaned of the dangerous remains of the Soviet army.

Today in Liepāja, there is an appropriate environment for comfortable, enjoyable and fulfilling life, as well as a suitable place for business.

Nature

The beach

Ever since it became a place of recreation for aristocrats in the 19th century, the beach has been a popular destination for thousands of holidaymakers. This is a place to swim with unusually fine white sand. The beach is 50-80 metres wide and 8 kilometres long. The sign of an especially clean water, safe environment and equipped swimming area – the Blue Flag – is a self-explanatory evaluation of this sea coast.

Liepāja and amber – these two words are bent together as naturally, as sea and beach, heaven and earth. Yet worth to mention, that this famed Nordic stone – amber – is not only a poetical image. You can easily find it on shore after a heavier storm.

Karosta

The largest historical military territory in Baltics. It is a part of Liepāja, yet it is like a town within a town – somewhat harsh, marvellous, paradoxical and unique place, that will not leave unimpressed.

Massive construction of Russian imperial military base with fortifications and a military camp was begun in 1890 to the north of Liepāja city. It was named after its founder – Port of Emperor Alexander the Third. Designed as a fully autonomous, populated area with its own infrastructure, electricity power plant, water supply and sewage system, church and schools. Only at the time of the first Latvian independence it was more and more often referred to as Kara osta (War Port), later – Karosta. During the Soviet time Karosta was a closed and covert zone inaccessible even for the civilian citizens of Liepāja. Today's Karosta reflects the interaction of Tsarist Russia ornate architecture, robust Soviet militarism and modern industrial buildings.

St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox Naval Cathedral

St. Nicholas cathedral is the visual and spiritual dominant of the whole Karosta area. Erection of the cathedral began in 1901. During the 1930s, under the Latvian government, the church was adapted to the needs of the Liepāja garrison's Lutherans. Upon the end of the World War II, Soviets reorganized Karosta into a secret territory and established a sports hall with a movie theatre here for the needs of sailors and soldiers. The Soviet military left the cathedral in September 1991 and the first liturgy in the recovered cathedral was held in December the same year.

Northern Fort

To protect the naval base in case of enemy attack, fortification system line surrounded the whole city. Northern Fort is one of the parts of the fortification system. Less than in 10 years since its construction, in November 1908, a decision was taken to disestablish the naval fortress in Liepāja, admitting it as a strategical error. Some of the cannons were dismantled and brought to the Kaunas fortress in Lithuania, others were melted. Today we can still see the remains of partially blown artillery batteries and underground bunkers. Several murals can be seen on the walls of the fort.

Jātnieku iela 19

Fortifications is a dangerous place for walking!

There is a danger of coastal bluff slide and ruins of fortifying structures.

Northern breakwater

The significant part of Liepāja fortifications and military compound. The breakwater reaches 1800 meters in length, expanding to 7,35 meters across. Watch stunning sunsets or feel the enormous power of storms and awake to the true meaning of why Liepāja is called the city where the wind is born!

Fortification battery No. 3

The main task of the coastal artillery battery was to cover the outpost from the north in case of an enemy attack. In 1915, the army of Tsarist Russia blew up the battery while retreating. The telephoto pavilion, which was later washed into the sea, has become one of the most popular photo spots in Liepāja. A symbolic memorial site for the Kurelians – a unit of Latvian soldiers during the Second World War, which fought against occupation powers – has been established here.

Krasta iela

Fortification battery No. 2

Battery No. 2 was built further from the coastline and protected by a high rampart. An ammunition depots for the troops of the various existing powers were always installed here. Due to the danger of explosions, the territory has been an object of very limited access for 130 years and a closed territory, which has been strictly guarded. The set of buildings of coastal battery, has completely preserved its historical charm and architectural scope. Reproductions of historical photographs from the Latvian War Museum are placed in the exposition. A guided tour in the territory of the battery and exposition is available from May till September.

2 Trail of Amber Pāvilosta – Vērgale – Ziemeupe – Saraiķi

Pāvilosta

Historically developed and known as a town of sea, seamen and a small port. Though its domestic manufacture is now resting mainly upon fishing, nevertheless once it was a shipbuilding location as well. The unique town's charm contributed to the increase of summer visitors during last couple of years – they find here an escape from the buzzy cities. In summer an early accommodation booking is necessary, considering that the population of a town grows three times during the summer season, charging it with a vivid social life.

To taste the real Pāvilosta, you have to try the production of local fishermen. Please ask the Pāvilosta Tourism Information Centre on where to buy it.

② Pāvilosta Local History Museum complex

The museum is a proud owner of unique forged bronze brooches and belts found in Saka County. However, those are only a small part of the whole 10,000 piece collection of stocks. In addition to the permanent exhibition, there is a special section with fossils and amber found in the region. The Boat House has an exhibition on the theme of fishing and a digital exhibition named "The golden grains of sand of Pāvilosta", in dedication to the centennial of Latvia, where you can find out about the most significant events taking place in Pāvilosta over the last 100 years. At Dzintaru Street, near the bridge there is the largest object of the museum – the ship "Dole" – the only retained RB type-fishing vessel in Latvia.

① Pāvilosta Beach

A wide beach – for both serenity and wind seekers: the right wind and waves for kite and wind surfing. Vivid breakwaters create the mouth of Saka River and north from breakwater – The Great Boulder of Pāvilosta – the largest sea boulder in Kurzeme coast. Look to the widest grey dune in Latvia from a double-decked platform.

3 Akmeņrags Lighthouse

35 m high brick lighthouse is located in one of the most dangerous places for navigation in the whole Baltic Sea coastal area.

 Opening Hours:
1.04.–31.10. Wed–Sun 10.00–16.00,

4 Steep Coasts

The coasts stretch across tens of kilometres. In Ziemeupe the coasts height is between 5–12 m, while in Strante–Ulmalē it reaches up to 16 m.

Remember – the coast is made of sand and clay: it is dangerous to walk on the overhangs or be under them!

5 The artefact storage “Jūras māja” (Marine house)

In the former dairy building, there are expositions of the history of Ziemeupe and various exhibitions. A tourism information centre is also located in the building, with the possibility of using a shower and washing machine.

6 Ziemeupe Lutheran Church

One of the smallest churches in Latvia (only 25x11 m) – its architectural simplicity does not even include a church spire. The church is a holder of the hundred-year-old harmonium built by the most recognizable harmonium constructors in Latvia, the Bokums' company in Liepāja. This instrument is still in use.

8 Vērgale Lutheran Church and Memorial for Lovers

Vērgale church has its roots in the 16th century; however, the current church was built in 1992. Next to it is a cemetery in which one gravestone says, “We couldn't otherwise...” This is a proof of the tragically ended romantic, forbidden love between the son of the baron and the housemaid Anna Lazdiņa.

9 Vērgale Manor Complex and Museum

The manor complex was built in the 18th century, but was later rebuilt in the late classicism style. Now it is home to Vērgale Primary School, library, culture centre and the local administration. Vērgale Local History Museum is located in the former distillery. One of the biggest mantel chimneys in Kurzeme has remained in the building.

⑥ Priekule Lutheran Church

The church was built around 1680. There is a legend, linked to this church, about Ikar's flight from the church's steeple. The church was destroyed in World War II along with most of the town. It was restored in 1995-1998. The altar, interior design and wood carvings are the work of students of the Riga School of Arts and Crafts.

⑧ Lielbāta Spring

Lielbāta spring is close to the historic Vaiņode or Lielbāta Castle and it is the largest clear spring in Latvia. Its water is biologically active. Available for everyone at any time.

⑨ Embūte Nature Park

One of the most beautiful and mysterious places in Kurzeme, a land of tales and legends. Here origins the famous tale about the forbidden love between Indulis, the ruler of the Curonians, and Ārija, German komtur's daughter. In the place where they used to see each other now grow the oak trees of Indulis and Ārija. Embūte Hillock is one of the first places in Latvia where the glacier began to retreat. Until the introduction of Christianity, this was an important sacred site with the highest hillock in Kurzeme – Krīvu hill. In the centre of the valley is the Curonians or Indulis castle mound. Hiking trail, picnic area.

Grobiņa

Grobiņa (Germ. Seeburg, meaning – Sea castle) is the oldest place in Latvia mentioned in scripts. During 7th-11th centuries, it was a significant culture and trade centre for both, Curonian and Scandinavian Vikings. Nowadays, the vicinity of Grobiņa keeps tracks and remains of ancient cemeteries and mounds, topping it with Grobiņa Medieval castle, which was residence for the keen man of business – Duke Jacob. From here, the Duke did manage his entire massive household: production, shipbuilding and a trade network of global importance with Kurzeme colonies in Africa and America.

Aizpute

The history of Aizpute (Germ. Hasenpöth) began at the place, known today as a Baznīckalna hill, where up until the 13th century was the Curonian mound. German crusaders conquered it and built there a church – it still stands. Aizpute was the capital of the Bishopric of Courland with a Dome Cathedral Chapter on one side of the Tebra River, and the Livonian Order fortifications on the other side: The River marked the border between the Order and the Diocese. In the medieval part of Aizpute town and in the 18th century wooden buildings are located cultural establishments – artist residency and workshop centre “Serde”, gallery “Mētras māja”, youth house “Ideju māja”, associations “Linmeijers” and “Amalienburga”.
